December 5th Meeting Topic:
Workers’ Compensation vs. Personal Injury:
Key Distinctions Every Employer Should Know

About our Speaker:
Jerry W. Pearson, Law Offices of Young Wooldridge

Mr. Pearson is a managing partner at Young Wooldridge, LLP and leads the firm’s Business Department. He represents business owners and management in labor and employment issues and ensures his clients stay in compliance with the State and Federal labor laws. He has successfully defended employers in wage and hour matters, as well as cases alleging harassment, discrimination, wrongful termination and other labor-related issues before the California State Superior Court, the California Court of Appeals, the United States District Court, the California Labor Commissioner, and the Department of Fair Employment and Housing. In his representation of employers, he has also drafted and helped to implement “Return to Work/Interactive Process” programs, which help employers determine if reasonable accommodations exist for an employee’s return to work from injury or disability leave. Mr. Pearson prides himself on getting to know his clients and their businesses before he represents them, so he can provide optimal legal counsel tailored to the specific client.
Bakersfield Chapter Study Group

The Professional Development Study group meets the first and third Tuesday of each month from 6:00 p.m. — 7:30 p.m. at Continental Labor and Staffing [900 Mohawk St, Suite 120].

This study group is comprised of safety professionals seeking certifications at all levels from the Board of Certified Safety Professionals (BCSP).

Anyone can join the group at any time; this is a “go at your own pace” study group. The only purchases required are study materials and a calculator. Most participants are using TI-30XIIS.

We study from materials offered by SPAN International Training. You can purchase the work books from:

www.spansafetyworkshops.com

Please direct emails to Heath Taylor if you have questions on which set of books you need to purchase.

Professional Development Achievement

Aaron Aragon (CSUB Student Member) attended the ASSP Future Safety Leaders Conference on November 8 & 9 in Oak Brook, Illinois.

Attendees, who represented 39 universities, were provided with tools to help their transition from the classroom to the workplace. The conference included breakout sessions and roundtable discussions on a wide range of topics including: interviewing, developing in the safety world, attending graduate school, understanding job postings, first-job expectations, ASSP Foundation Scholarships, internships, and collaboration techniques.

In addition, attendees heard from ASSP President Rixio Medina and new ASSP Chief Executive Officer Jennifer McNelly. Various companies were also on hand, to provide information about their organizations and future job opportunities.

Welcome New Members

Although guests are always welcome, ASSP loves it when new members join. Here are a few of the most recent new members. If you see them at an ASSP function, please give them a friendly welcome.

“Members on the Move”

Congrats to Mitch Mills for starting a new position as Safety Manager at Braun Electric Company, Inc.
A Look Ahead

Speaker: David D. Blaine, Esq. - Partner at Belden Blaine, LLP

Recently, a California Court of Appeal ruled a third-party safety consultant can be held liable to an injured worker through a “negligent undertaking” claim. Mr. Blaine will help us understand what this means. David Blaine combines legal expertise with practical human resources experience. As an employment lawyer, he has counseled hundreds of employers on legal compliance issues, and litigated a broad array of employment cases involving discrimination, wrongful termination, wage and hour, breach of contract and harassment.

The ASSP Future Safety Leaders Conference in Chicago was a very informative session for a young professional like myself. I learned valuable information that gave me a new insight into the world of safety professionals.

I had the opportunity to learn and meet some of ASSP’s most influential members and leaders, including the CEO Jennifer McNelly. The conference allowed me to ask questions and learn from people who have been in the field and have been safety professionals their whole lives. This conference also showed me new avenues that safety professionals are taking in the modern age. It was really insightful to see safety growing with demand.

Along with the shared information, the conference allowed me to network with people from other universities and listen to their experiences in safety. I have met great people at this conference that I am sure I will keep in contact with throughout my professional career.

The ASSP conference was a great experience and I am very grateful the Bakersfield Chapter selected me to attend. Thank you for the opportunity to grow my professional skills.

Greetings All:

This is a summary/update addressing some of Society’s governmental affairs issues since August. We hope this information is of value and look forward to hearing any feedback or comments you may have:

National Issues

#1: OSHA and EPA MOU on TSCA

The Society is continuing to monitor the issue of a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) between OSHA and EPA on the Toxic Substances Control Act (TSCA) to address chemicals that the EPA reviews under the act. TSCA permits the EPA to require additional worker protections such as Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) for a chemical. In the past EPA considered OSHA’s Permissible Exposure Limit’s (PEL) as outdated. The MOU continues EPA’s efforts to collaborate with OSHA concerning worker safety, but also meets the mandates of the 2016 updates to TSCA (Lautenberg Chemical Safety for the 21st Century Act). Late last year an industry group, the TSCA New Chemicals Coalition (NCC), suggested the EPA forge a process with OSHA to consult about worker exposure.

#2. Raise Awareness of Fall Protection Management Programs

September 18, 2018: ASSP called on OSHA to elevate the importance of fall protection management programs and advise employers to look to consensus standards such as ANSI/ASSP Z359 and ANSI/ASSP A10 for the latest industry practices.

#3. OSHA Extends Some Compliance Dates for Beryllium Standard

August 9, 2018: OSHA extended the compliance date for specific ancillary requirements of the general industry beryllium standard to Dec. 12, 2018. The extension maintains essential safety and health protections for workers, the agency states, while giving it time to work on a proposal that would clarify certain provisions of the standard and address employers’ compliance burdens.
Key Facts About ASSP

- Founded in 1911, we are the longest-running safety society and the most respected advocate for workplace safety and health professionals.
- Our more than 37,000 members are dedicated to making their workplaces safer and healthier, and we share in their commitment.
- We are the preferred source for education among occupational safety and health (OSH) professionals—accredited by the International Association for Continuing Education and Training (IACET), and authorized to offer IACET CEUs for programs that qualify under the ANSI/IACET standard.
- We connect great people to great resources — supporting more than 150 chapter communities in the United States and abroad, as well as practice specialties, common interest groups and student communities that enable OSH professionals to engage on a global scale.
